C and F 2i Ltd Legal and Copyright Notice

1. This website at candfpartners.com ('Website') is owned and operated by C and F 2I Ltd ('C&F', 'we', 'our' or 'us' being interpreted accordingly). We agree to provide you with access to our Website and its contents, subject to the following terms and conditions:

- a. You have a non-exclusive and non-transferable right to access our Website and view the reports, analysis, research, opinions, information, data, statistics, graphics, images and other material that we choose to make available on it from time to time ('Content') solely for your own non-commercial use.
- b. All intellectual property rights in relation to this Website and the Content including, without limit, copyright, rights in relation to inventions, database rights, rights in designs, trade mark rights and goodwill in relation to our business or product names, rights in relation to domain names, rights in relation to trade secrets or know-how and other intellectual property rights arising anywhere in the world now or in the future (and whether registered or unregistered) ('IP Rights') belong to us and/or our licensors, as the case may be. You have no title or right in relation to any Content and the copying, distribution, licensing, publication, broadcast, modification, adaptation or creation of derivative works from or any exploitation of such Content or the framing of or providing links to this Website without our express written consent is strictly prohibited.
- c. You are not permitted to use our name or Content in any way that suggests a connection with, or any endorsement from, C&F Partners.
- d. You will not act in any way that is intended to interfere with the operation of this Website or that is likely to weaken or damage our IP Rights.
- e. You accept and agree that:
 - i. While the Content appearing on this Website is provided in good faith, it is only provided for general information and is not intended to constitute (or be a substitute for) professional guidance or specific advice, nor shall any views or opinions expressed in any material on this Website bind us in any way. You acknowledge that there may be omissions or errors in Content and such Content may sometimes become out of date;
 - ii. Reliance on Content is solely at your own risk. You take full responsibility for how you choose to use this Website or interpret the Content and we cannot be liable for any decision (strategic, operational or otherwise) made on the basis of you using this Website;
 - iii. We cannot guarantee that this Website or Content will be available on a completely uninterrupted, error free basis and on occasion, we may have to carry out maintenance, update or make changes to this Website or Content as we deem appropriate, without liability; and
 - iv. Where we refer to any third party or its materials, products or services or link to its website, except to the extent that we expressly state otherwise, such references or links are not intended to be treated as a recommendation or endorsement in respect of that third party.

2. Without Prejudice to the above and to the fullest extent permitted by applicable law:

a. We exclude liability (on our own behalf and on behalf of our partners, advisors, staff and representatives) for any (I) indirect, incidental, special, exemplary or consequential loss or damage; or (II) any loss of profits, revenue, anticipated savings, opportunities, contracts, data or economic loss (whether direct or indirect), howsoever arising, out of or in connection with your use of this website and the content, even if we have been advised of the possibility of the same.

b. We hereby disclaim all representations, warranties, terms and conditions (whether expressed or implied by statute, common law or otherwise) in relation to quality or fitness for particular purpose of this website and the content.

3. These terms are subject to English law. To the maximum extent legally permitted, you agree that any dispute relating to your use of the Website and the Content or interpretation of these terms is subject to the exclusive jurisdiction of the courts of England and Wales.

C and F2i Ltd - Cookie Policy

C and F2i Ltd ('C&F', 'we', 'our' or 'us' being interpreted accordingly) may use cookies or similar tracking technologies ('Cookies') when you access this website at candfpartners.com ('Website').

By using this Website, you consent to us using Cookies as described in this Policy.

What are Cookies?

Cookies are small files of information sent by the web server that hosts our Website to the web browser software on the computer or device that you use to access this Website (e.g. Internet Explorer, Google Chrome, Safari or Firefox). These Cookies then enable our web server to collect information about interaction of that computer or device with our Website. You can find out more about Cookies and how they work at: www.allaboutcookies.org.

How we use Cookies

We use Cookies to help us better understand how our Website is used and provide a more user-friendly experience. For example, knowing about your previous Website visits, we can tailor content to match your particular interests when you revisit this Website. Please note that Cookies on this Website will not be used by us to personally identify you.

How you can control Cookies

You can block or disable Cookies by adjusting the settings on your web browser software although this may affect your ability to get full use of our Website.

4. Cookie Types

The following generally describes the Cookies that we may use on this Website:

a. Strictly Necessary Cookies: Some Cookies are essential in order to enable you to navigate our Website and use its features. Where such Cookies are strictly necessary to receive a particular feature, you have asked for or to enable you to view or use our Website, we do not need to ask your permission to use them.

b. Performance Cookies: These Cookies collect information about user visits to our Website, for instance which pages visitors go to most often. Some of these Performance Cookies are 'analytics' cookies, using third party software tools, which help us understand more about how our Website is used.

For example, we use Google Analytics (see - google.co.uk/analytics) to help us monitor visitor traffic. This data may include your computer's IP address, the pages you have accessed and documents you have uploaded. More information about Google Analytics and its privacy practices.

Performance Cookies do not collect information that personally identifies a visitor by name so should not significantly impact on your privacy. We might use these performance cookies to highlight services we think will be of interest to you based on prior use of our Website.

c. Functionality Cookies: This describes Cookies that allow our Website to remember information from your previous visit, such as details you previously submitted or your previously stated preferences. For example, if you complete a registration form, we may use such a Cookie to remember your details without you having to re-enter them, if you use the same computer to complete a later form. These Cookies may also be used to provide particular services you request such as newsletters or publications.

d. Third Party Cookies: Our Website may also allow third parties to download Cookies to your device. For example, if you choose to 'share' a page or article from our Website with friends through a third-party site or social network, you may be sent Cookies from these third-party websites. Since we do not control these third-party Cookies, we recommend that you check the relevant third party's privacy policy or terms of use for more information about how they use Cookies.
